Three-Ton Door Moved With Ease

By Bernard Block

Three tons of steel shoved around with ease! Impossible? At Bowling Green's airfield this little operation is performed everyday.

A recently-installed steel hangar door, designed by Byrne Doors Inc. of Detroit, Mich., disappears mysteriously into the roof of the hangar with the greatest of ease.

The door, 54 feet in length and 14 feet in height, is operated by a system of pulleys and counter-balances, which swings the mass of steel to the roof of the hangar to form a canopy.

An unusual feature, not commonly used, is a four foot overhang from the edge of the hangar roof. This will aid in the handling of planes in hazardous weather.

For the past few weeks, four structural steel men from the Byrne plant have been placing the prefabricated parts into their proper positions. First they erected the framework. Around the framework for a height of five feet, steel panels were placed. From that point up to the top of the door, a pattern of glazed windows was enclosed in steel sashes.

A one horsepower motor is used to start the door on its journey to the ceiling. The motor gives the door a short push and the counter-balances, with cement weights attached, pull the door the remaining distance. The same method is used to bring the door back to its original position.

Other finishing touches are being added to the grounds around the hangar at Bricker Field. The grading along the side of the building is being leveled off to present a neater appearance. The hangar will be ready for full operation by the end of the month.

All-Star Choice

Don "Sid" Otten, Bowling Green's giant cage star will play on the college All-Star team Dec. 1 against the world's professional champions, the Ft. Wayne Zollners, in Chicago stadium.

Don is the first Falcon in the history of Bowling Green State University to have achieved this fame. Otten was chosen as were 14 other All-Stars from a field of 75 collegiate stars throughout the country by sports writers, coaches, and sports announcers.

He will leave for Chicago Nov. 24 to practice with the All-Stars for one week prior to the game. Don, 6 feet 11 inches tall, will be the second largest man on the squad. Bob Kurland of Oklahoma A and M is the tallest; he exceeds Sid by one inch.

Student Council Names Crowell President, Makes Plans for Class Officer Elections

Student Council elected Bob Crowell, Sandusky senior, as president at its first meeting last week. Jean Harshman, Bowling Green junior, is vice president.

Other officers will be chosen when new members are elected to the Council.

The Council, reorganized last year, is composed of 20 members: class presidents (not yet elected); representative from the graduate students (to be chosen by council); chairman of residences of 100 or more students; chairman of the board of publications, Prof. Jesse J. Currier; chairman of the Social Committee, Dean Audrey Kenyon Wilder.

One member of the social committee; editor of the Bee Gee News, Jean Harshman; editor of the Key, Wilma Stone; president of WSGA, Ardine Gottfried; president of WAA, Lois Kochlaun; president of Panhellenic, Virginia Falknor; president of the YWCA, Wilma Holzhauser; president of YMCA, Larry Hanline; president of the Men's Union, Bob Crowell; and president of the interfraternity council, Jim Violand.

In addition there are three faculty advisers to be chosen by the president.

Since the class elections have not been held, presidents of last year's classes met with council. They are Mary Holt, of the 1943-44 junior class; Eva Marie Saint, last year's sophomore class; and Janey Rothe, last year's freshman class.

Treasurer and secretary for Council will be elected when new class presidents and house chairmen are chosen. In the meantime, Eva Marie Saint, 1943-44

The purpose of the Council is to supervise student activities, organizations, traditions, and customs.

Bob Crowell, the new president, was the temporary chairman of the group. One other adviser will be appointed to serve along with Miss Florence Baird.

Petitions for class officers may be gotten from the office of the Dean of Students, A. B. Conklin, today.

Student Council, supervisor of all campus elections, made plans at its first meeting for the election of class officers to be Friday, Dec. 1. Students may get petitions, which are to be signed by 25 members of the class, anytime after today and must return them by noon Wednesday, Nov. 22.

Names of the candidates will be published in the Bee Gee News of Nov. 29, two days before election.

Plans for the election were made by a committee headed by Jim Violand, council representative from interfraternity council. All of the rules pertaining to the election are in the by-laws of the student council constitution.

According to these rules:

1. Only verbal campaigning is permitted, and this is illegal within 20 feet of the voting booths (south of the Well in the Administration Building.)

2. Petitions, which must be signed by 25 members of the class, must be returned within three days after date of issue.

B. G. Baby Grows

Emphasis is being placed on Bowling Green's 84 years of progress in the autumn issue of the University Alumni Magazine.

It is well to stop and consider the vast strides taken by the University since its beginning in 1910. Thirty-four years is a very short time for a university to be in existence, especially when one considers that Harvard, oldest university in North America, was founded more than 300 years ago.

At the turn of a century there were three state-supported universities in Ohio, Ohio State in Columbus in the central part, Ohio in Athens in the southeast, and Miami in Oxford in the southwest. In 1910, the Ohio General Assembly established two additional state schools to serve the people of the northern part of the state. Kent was started for those in the northeast and Bowling Green for those in the northwest.

Early college life at Bowling Green was much different from that of today. Under the leadership of the late Dr. H. B. Williams, first president, the first classes were held in the Bowling Green Armory. The Administration Building was the first permanent structure to be built on land that had been a municipal park.

Three of the original faculty members are still at the University: Dr. Rea McCain, English professor; Dr. J. R. Overman, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts; and Dr. E. L. Moseley, professor emeritus of biology.

Now there are 65 colleges and universities in Ohio, 45 of which are approved by the Ohio College Association. In addition to the five state universities, there are municipal, private, and church-controlled schools.

Although there are only five colleges and universities in the state younger than Bowling Green and Kent, these two sister schools are among the 11 in Ohio with enrollment above 1,000. Others are Akron, Cincinnati, and Toledo, municipal institutions; Oberlin, first coeducational school in the country; Ohio Wesleyan, Methodist university; and the three other state-supported schools.

In addition to having enrollment classed in the upper brackets in comparison with other Ohio colleges, Bowling Green has a physical plant superior to many others in size and value. The 12 buildings on the campus are valued at $3,500,000.

Bowling Green has a faculty of 100 members who teach in the colleges of education, liberal arts, and business administration. In addition to class work, there is an opportunity for students to participate in extra-curricular activities ranging from athletics to honoraries.

All of these benefits—college life on one of the finest campuses in the state plus the best instruction there is to offer—may be gained at Bowling Green economically because of the fact that the University is state-controlled. Here the tuition and fees are among the lowest in the state and the cost of living unusually inexpensive.

Here we may gain knowledge and skill as we realize that Bowling Green is truly "home of aspiring souls."

Junior Coed, Born in Germany, Says Hearers Believe Hitler

By Georgianna Kaul

"Hitler is a powerful speaker, and while he is talking you find yourself almost believing him—until he stops," says Ruth Schiedung of Flint, Mich., Bowling Green junior who was born in Germany and spent part of her life there.

"As a child, I can remember hearing Hitler speak on several occasions and seeing him on the speaker's platform. 'Never have I seen anyone who can hold an audience as he can,' Ruth continued.

Ruth was born in Bochum, Germany, a city of about 315,000 near Essen and Cologne, and lived there until she was four years old. Her family then came to America and lived in Flint, Michigan.

When Ruth was ten in 1934 she and her mother returned to Bochum, where they spent nine months before coming back to Flint.

Attended School in Germany
"I went to school for several months while I was there, attending a parochial school—they still had them at that time," said Ruth. "Before school started in the morning we lined up in the courtyard where we sang two Hitler songs and saluted the flag."

"We studied much the same subjects that are taught in the grade schools here, although there wasn't the variety of subjects taught. It was strictly reading, writing, and arithmetic. We also were taught much physical education."

In speaking of the Hitler youth organizations, Ruth said that everyone under thirteen belonged to these organizations much as we belong to the Boy Scouts, except that everyone was required to join. Their activities, too, could be compared with those of our Boy Scouts, only the uniform is worn all the time. The boys wore khaki shorts and shirts, and the girls wore navy skirts, white polo shirts, and pink pullovers. The girls were taught hand crafts, while physical culture was stressed in the boys' training.

Children Given Gas Drills
"All the children were given gas mask drills and taught to go through gas chambers even as early as 1934," said Ruth.

"When Hitler came into power he did much to improve the country economically, and the people did not seem to realize that he was really preparing for war," she continued. "The people who had had a good education, however, did not join the movement."

Using the case of her grandfather as an example of what happened to people who did not join the movement, Ruth told of his fate. He had worked in a factory in Bochum and because of his age had done light work. As production increased he was forced to work harder and harder and the type of work he was doing eventually caused his death.

"If my grandfather had signed a statement that he was a Nazi or believed in the movement, the government would have provided my grandmother with a sufficient pension," stated Ruth. "Because he refused to do so, my grandmother was granted a pension that she was barely able to live on."

Believes Nazis Must Fail
"Because I have known firsthand what the Nazi have done to the people of Germany as well as to the whole world, I hope to see Nazism wiped out completely," said Ruth. "I believe that if Nazi leaders are caught, the Nazis cannot possibly go underground."

Grad is 'Lady-Killer'

Edited By Helen Bowen

N. Y.

Lt. (j.g.) Clyde Spittler, Bowling Green graduate of '42, and Navy flying ace with five Jap planes to his credit, made the Nov. 13 issue of Life Magazine. Said Life in its Letters to the Editor, "Lt. Clyde Spittler sure is a lady-killer."

A member of Alpha Tau Omega, Clyde first had his picture appear with a group of Naval fliers in the Oct. 30 issue.

Harlan Horton, x'43, is stationed in Iceland. The following is part of a letter from him telling of that country. "I am still here after 14 months. Contrary to expectations, Iceland is not a land of Eskimos and igloos. There is a university here that is very modern, and it is one of the most beautiful buildings I have ever seen. Any Islandic person may attend without charge.

We live right near the university stadium, and the most popular game played looks like a combination of our football, soccer, and hockey all rolled into one. The crowds do not get excited and yell like we do in the States. The only difficulty we have experienced is the fact that the summer days are about 20 hours long and the winter days only four hours long. We get lonesome for the sun. Our first snow fell on September 22. It didn't last long except for the snow that fell on the mountains."

The address of Lt. James Stearns, x'43, is the Chico Army Air Field, Chico, Calif. At that field he is an engineering officer in a P-38 squadron.

Pvt. Bob Bowers, x'45, has spent a good share of the past year in hospitals in Italy. In June he was in the hospital for two and one half months with a broken foot, and now he is back again. Pvt. Bowers has been in the front lines in the Italian theatre of war and he says, "It almost makes me sick to see the damage that we have had to do to drive the Germans back." His address is Pvt. Robert Bowers, 15132746, Btry. B, B 403 FA Bn., APO 85, c/o PM, New York.

The Sailors Say

Are You in the Dark?

By Sid Freeman

EXPLAINING . . .

So many of our readers were in the dark last week as to the meaning of that bit of advice to sailors in "Nestward, Ho!" which read, "Never blow the whistle if you can't also ring the bell," that we thought it would be a good idea if we explained it.

Gentlemen, it means: Don't whistle at the gals if you don't want to follow it up with a ring on their doorbell. Get it? Now you know.

CONGRATULATING . . .

All the fellows at Kohl Hall really appreciated the mighty sweet candle-lit serenade that they were given by about 50 Alpha Xi Delta girls one night last week. That was really swell, girls. It's things like that that make life at B.G. interesting.

REMINISCING . . .

Charles Coddling, Blair Patterson, Don Davis, Gene Mierhoffer, and Tom Bierly are still reminiscing over the good old days when they were living on the third deck of the practice school. They're the only five left here of the elite few who used to live at the "annex."

DREAMING . . .

The men who came here from Yale are looking back to last term, too, when their living quarters consisted of three rooms. Imagine, there were two fellows to share the spacious quarters that usually included a ### fireplace!

Kohl was never like this, but they say that Bowling Green is still much better. You see, there weren't any women at Yale.

NOTICING . . .

Otto Huebner, the Sage of Wisconsin, usually has a clever word for most any situation, but we think that he put it very well when, after passing all the women with their cologne so often, he said: "The campus smells so different this term."

WONDERING . . .

We've often wondered how Don Otten, Bowling Green's 6 foot 11 inch all-star basketball player, would fit in one of the USN's bunks at the Hall. Maybe two laid end to end would take care of the giant.

SHOWERING . . .

Jack Bandel, a fourth term, is known to take three showers in one day! Jack likes to be clean apparently, so he hops in the shower in the morning, during the noon hour, and again before he hits the sack.

ENDING . . .

Since "Nestward, Ho!" started a Dr. Anthony service last week, it seems only proper that the sailors also should say something filled with wisdom. So we present "Advice to Anybody."

One chick in the hand is worth much more than two in the Nest.

Women's Physical Education Largest in University History

By Betty Long

"This year's physical education program for women is the largest in the history of Bowling Green," Miss Gertrude Eppler, head of the Women's Physical Education Department, said today.

"We have one of the largest major Physical Education Departments in the state. There are over one hundred majors and minors enrolled, forty-six of which are freshmen. Nearly seven hundred girls are participating in the various service classes and WAA activities. Because of increased enrollment of women students, it was necessary to add two extra courses in swimming, two in bowling, and one in hiking."

"After an increase in staff, it will be possible to add Fencing and Lacrosse as part of the major program in the department."

Due to the shortage of men coaches in high schools, women are asked to assist in training the boys in football. As a result a short course of touch football has been added to the curriculum of the physical education majors.

The three divisions of the department are working very hard to make this year's program a success. The physical education division is furnishing every girl an opportunity to have a choice in some service course sponsored by the Physical Education Department; the WAA division offers a 4 o'clock recreational hour four days a week, it also sponsors the following clubs, Table Tennis, Modern Dance, Archery, Badminton, Bowling, Outing Club, and the Swan Club.

Miss Eppler has been working on a major course in Recreation in the Physical Education Department because of the demand for Recreational leaders.

"Due to the increase in demand for camp counsellors it is hoped that in the future the Department will have a camp site so that the students will receive practical camping experience in addition to the theory camp course which is already being offered in the Physical Education Department."

The department is planning to have a table tennis and badminton exhibition in the near future.

Cheer Squad Adds Four Members

Cheerleaders added four members to their squad at tryouts Friday to bring the total to seven members.

Ervin Potts sophomore from Ft. Wayne, Ind., holdover from last year's squad, will captain the cheerleaders. Opal Corder, sophomore from Canton and Gene Kohls, junior from Cleveland, led cheers during the past football season.

The four new members are Betty Breneman, junior from Shreve, who led University cheers as a freshman; June Smith, junior from Berea, and Edith Doerr and Betty Attmore, freshmen from Buffalo, N. Y.

Two of the new members will alternate with the other two to make a total of five cheerleaders participating at the basketball games.

19 Freshmen Are Phys. Ed. Majors

Nineteen of the 75 civilian freshmen men enrolled in the University this semester are beginning as majors or minors in physical education.

Although the majority of the men are under draft age, some have been discharged from the service.

Warren E. Steller, associate professor of physical education, states, "War always brings an increased interest in physical education activities, and this rather large proportion of men who are starting out to coach and teach in this field is in line with the usual trend."

"With the fine athletic facilities available here, Bowling Green should be able to play a major role in post-war physical education," coach Steller added.

Opponents Close Season Saturday

The football season for Falcon opponents is closing rapidly with only two games scheduled for next week. Miami University plays DePauw and Ohio Wesleyan encounters Oberlin.

Bunker Hill Naval Air Station closed its season last week by dropping from the undefeated list as the Iowa Seahawks drubbed them 33 to 7.

Miami University remained undefeated by downing Ohio Wesleyan 33 to 20.

Ben Tenwalde Coaches Webster

Ben Tenwalde, a Junior in Physical Education, has been signed to coach basketball at Webster high school this season. Ben was recently discharged from the Army Air Corps after serving for two years and six months.

After working with the team for only a week, Coach Tenwalde is preparing for the opening game Friday night. "They are a bit green, but show possibilities," says Coach Tenwalde.

The Webster team will make an appearance on the University court, December 7, in a preliminary game against the Falcon reserves.

Ben won his varsity letter as a member of the '41-'42 track team. He ran the quarter mile and the 12 lap relay on the indoor team and ran the quarter mile and the mile relay on the outdoor cinder path.

Mike Kish, '43 graduate, captain of the '42-'43 Falcon cage team, coached Webster high school to the state semi-finals that season.

Swan Club Tryouts Tonight, Thursday

Have you seen the Bowling Green Swans?

They aren't graceful water birds, but swimmers who are as proficient in the natatorium as their namesakes.

At the present time, Swan Club, headed by Esther Davis, president, is picking a group of Cygnets, pledges to the organization. Tryouts, started last week, are continuing tonight and tomorrow in the University pool.

This year the Swans will present a water pageant. They could not last year because they were unable to use the natatorium for extra practice because it was used constantly by servicemen. Last year, however, they sponsored an all-campus women's swimming meet and gave several demonstrations of formation swimming to music, the Swan specialty.

Dance, Parties This Weekend

Keep those suitcases in your closets—and prepare for a busy weekend. Friday night there will be a double feature program sponsored by the social committee.

An all-campus splash party will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. So come on, let's be "all wet!" For those of you who would like to tax your mental ability and stay above water, why don't you go to the bridge party in the Rec Hall from 8 to 11 p.m.? Ac cards, please.

All day Saturday, rest and recuperate for another swing session in the Rec Hall. This time the Gamma Phi Beta's will present Dick Zahn's orchestra, from Marion, for their Back-to-School Hop from 8:30 to 11:30. Molly Roberts is in charge of arrangements.

Social Committee Wants Workers

Social Committee wishes to hire students for ticket collecting, equipment checking, and for work in the check room. Those interested should contact Dean Audrey K. Wilder.

Class Elections

5. Council has the power to deal with anyone violating these rules.

This election pertains only to civilian students, since service men are technically not members of any one class. They are, however, represented on council by one member, chosen by the commanding officer of the V-12 unit.

These voting and election rules will be explained further to freshmen in their orientation classes. In the 1943-44 election, no freshmen candidates were on the ballot since no petitions were submitted. This was because of the lack of understanding of the rules, Violand said. A special election had to be held for the freshmen last year.

Mail Collection Hours Announced

Are you in a dither as to what time the local postal authorities collect the letter to your "one and only," or a rush letter asking for more money from your parents?

The parcel postman picks up the letters from the mail box on the main floor of the Administration Building and the box in front of Williams Hall daily at 9 a.m. and again at 3 p.m. with the exception of Sunday. On this seventh day, a carrier collects the mail only from the box on the University Circle at 3 p.m.

If you cannot drop your letters in the boxes before these deadlines, the mail box at the New York Central station will facilitate your sending them a day earlier because a mailman on a north bound train will collect the letters at 1 a.m. each morning but Monday.

Local mail should not be placed in the station box for it will be returned to the sender, and an additional fee charged.

His symphony which he lists as Opus 58 is written in four movements, Allegro, Andante, Scherzo, and Finale. In addition he has written more than fifty compositions for orchestra and string ensembles.

Reserved seats are on sale today and tomorrow in the Well. They cost $2.40 or 60 cents plus Activity card.

The Cincinnati Orchestra is recognized as one of the finest symphonic ensembles in the world. With a background of fine musical traditions dating back to the early nineteenth century, it came into being in 1895. An orchestra of 40 musicians, which presented occasional concerts in Cincinnati prior to 1895 was an important predecessor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. When the present Symphony Orchestra was formed this group of players was its nucleus. The present personnel includes eighty-eight virtuoso players.

Its conductors have in turn been Frank vander Stucken, Leopold Stokowski, Dr. Ernst Kunwald, Eugene Ysaie, Fritz Reiner, and Eugene Goossens.
